SKI TOURING - THE WONDER OF THE VALLEE D'AOSTA

Duration: 3 | Fitness: ▲▲▲△△ | Technique: ▲▲▲△△ | Price from: 670 €

STAR-BASED SKI TOUR FROM THE MAGIA REFUGE NEAR AOSTA

Just a stone's throw from the city of Aosta in Italy, Val Saint-Barthélemy is a small, secluded valley and one of the Aosta Valley's best-kept secrets. The comfortable Magia Refuge, located at the edge of the larch forest at an altitude of 2,000 metres, is the ideal base for exploring this local gem. During this star-based ski tour, you'll enjoy a peaceful atmosphere while staying in particularly comfortable accommodation. The itineraries alternate between forests and wide-open spaces, with magnificent views of the surrounding peaks. This trip is part of a special selection of itineraries we have chosen to allow you to embark on a multi-day ski tour from the beginning of winter. There's no need to wait until March: the area is perfectly suited to ski touring from the first snow, whether you are looking for a gentle introduction to multi-day touring or simply an excellent way to start your ski touring season.

OUR SELECTION OF SKI TOURS IN THE AOSTA VALLEY

To continue exploring the mountains of the Aosta Valley, we have developed a selection of ski tours that allow you to enjoy the diversity of the region's terrain and the quality of its mountain refuges. Enjoy a gentle introduction to ski touring in the Val Ferret, facing the south side of the Mont Blanc massif, explore Val de Rhèmes, on the Italian side of the Haute Tarentaise, on a star-based ski tour, or venture into Gran Paradiso National Park and climb Gran Paradiso itself, at 4,061 metres.

ITINERARY

Day 1

Transfer from Chamonix to the small hamlet of Porliod (1,790m) in the Val Saint Barthélémy via Aosta and Nus. We ascend to the Col de Beauregard (2,382m) via a comfortable traverse at the foot of Mont Rion. We then descend through alpine pastures and the larch forest to reach the Magia refuge (2,007m). The refuge, completed in 2016, is particularly comfortable, offering showers and small dormitories. Overnight at the refuge.
Elevation gain: 600m / Elevation loss: 400m

Day 2

Departure towards the end of the Val Saint Barthélémy and the mountains bordering the neighboring Valpelline. We first reach the plateau of Lac de Luseney, then ascend to the Col de Livournéa (2,841m). We descend by the same route and spend the night at the refuge.
Elevation gain: 850m / Elevation loss: 850m

Day 3

We leave the refuge for the Pointe de Chaleby (2,683m). We descend via the Col du Salvé to the alpine pastures of Fontaney and Chavalry, creating a beautiful loop that takes us back to the Porliod parking lot. Return to Chamonix in the mid-afternoon.
Elevation gain: 700m / Elevation loss: 700m
