TRAIL - BEGINNER'S COURSE LEVEL 1

Duration: 3

Fitness: ▲▲▲▲▲▲▲ Technique: ▲▲▲▲▲▲▲

Price from: 860 €

This three-day course, designed for amateur runners who have already participated in a 15 km trail run or a half marathon, offers a complete immersion in the world of mountain trail running, supervised by a specialized professional. Participants explore the technical fundamentals (foot placement, managing elevation changes, using poles) during practical workshops and iconic outings in Chamonix on suitable trails (10 to 20 km, 300 to 1,000 m elevation gain).

The program includes progressive learning, lectures on ultra-endurance and mental preparation, nutrition and sleep management, and the discovery of magnificent landscapes, all in a friendly and safe atmosphere.

The package includes full board, meals adapted to athletes, and personalized coaching to ensure optimal progress.

Ideal for combining performance, safety, and a passion for the mountains!

ITINERARY

Day 1

Immersion and first steps

The course begins at 9:00 a.m. at the Compagnie des Guides de Chamonix, where there will be a comprehensive presentation of the essential equipment for trail running.

This session will familiarize participants with the specific terminology used in the discipline, in order to better understand the techniques and vocabulary that will be covered later on.

The morning continues in the field with a practical workshop dedicated to the fundamentals: foot placement, body positioning, and use of poles. These elements are essential for effective and safe practice.

After a convivial meal together in Chamonix, the afternoon is devoted to a first jog on the legendary Petit Balcon Sud, an ideal route for applying the techniques learned in an inspiring setting.

The return to the hotel at the end of the day is an opportunity to rest before an evening conference dedicated to sharing knowledge with an ultra-endurance specialist: how to approach an ultra trail (training, mental preparation, equipment), etc.

Approximately 10 km and 300 m of elevation gain.

Day 2

Exploration and technique at altitude, mastering steep trails.

This day is entirely dedicated to discovering the magnificent landscapes of the Chamonix valley. We will leave from the village of Les Houches for a gradual climb to an iconic summit (Prarion, Aiguillette des Houches, Mont Lachat, etc.).

The guide will adapt the itinerary according to your level on the first day in order to offer you an emblematic route that provides the opportunity to work on your climbing technique and strengthen your endurance.

Once at the summit, you will enjoy a spectacular view of the Mont Blanc massif.

The descent, which is technical and demanding, will allow you to perfect your stride and adapt to uneven terrain.

The return to the hotel at the end of the day is an opportunity to rest before an evening conference on the history and challenges of ultra-trail running, led by a specialist.

Approximately 20km and 800m of elevation gain.

Day 3

Contemplation and conclusion of the course

On this final day, the focus will be on what drives us all in trail running: the pleasure of enjoying exceptional natural surroundings while getting some exercise.

On the iconic trails of the Aiguilles Rouges, we will put what we have learned over the previous two days into practice during a friendly and technical outing, facing the legendary mountains of the Mont Blanc massif.

We will run to review some technical elements, but above all to have a lot of fun.

The course will end in the middle of the afternoon with a return to the hotel, where a final moment of conviviality over a drink will allow us to discuss the progress made and talk about the return journey.

Approximately 20km and 1000m of elevation gain.
