ROCK CLIMBING - CHAMONIX BEST ROCK CLIMBS

Duration: 2 days

Level: ▲▲▲▲▲

The Mont Blanc Massif is particularly famous for its unique backdrop, a blend of tormented glaciers and slender needles of rock. Climbers come here from across the world, attracted by the granite and looking for the characteristic high-quality climbing that it affords. Explore two routes that have made Chamonix famous: the legendary 'Rébuffat' route on the Aiguille du Midi and the Piola route 'Nabot Léon' on the Aiguille de Blaitière. Having our base camp in the Plan de l'Aiguille mountain hut means you can also make the most of the remarkable atmosphere and stillness of the surroundings.

This programme is aimed at those who are looking to find out more about the climbing that typifies the Mont Blanc Massif. It requires previous experience in rock climbing and the ability to climb French grade 5c/6a.

ITINERARY

Day 1 : Rébuffat route (200m, F6a) - south face of the Aiguille du Midi (3842m)

Meet in Chamonix. Take the cable car up to the Aiguille du Midi. We walk down the arête (20 mins) and start the climb. This route has everything that high altitude rock climbing has to offer - a majestic backdrop, beautiful coloured granite and varied climbing - and is an absolute must! Short rappel descent, descent to the Aiguille du Plan via cable car. Night in Aiguille du Plan hut (2207m).

Day 2 : Piola route 'Nabot Léon' (250m, F6a) - Pilier Rouge of the Aiguille de Blaitière (3170m)

We leave at sunrise for the west face of the Aiguille de Blaitière (1½ hours). This is another magnificent and varied route, one of a number of masterpieces put up by the talented Swiss new router, Michel Piola. Rappel descent, return to Plan de l'Aiguille and descent by cable car to Chamonix.

This programme is meant as a guide only. Depending on the abilities of the group and the conditions in the mountains, your mountain guide may alter the route.

Ability level : An appropriate choice of peak is essential for you to properly enjoy your holiday. To get the most out of your trip we recommend you take regular exercise throughout the year and, where necessary, undertake specific training a few months before you leave. Try to avoid last minute training that can lead to injury. Do not overestimate your abilities and do be aware that the weight of your pack and higher altitudes reduce your usual strength and stamina. For people who regularly exercise/take part in sports.

Participants need to be able to climb multi-pitch F5+/6. No mountaineering experience is required but the descent of the arête of the Aiguille du Midi does require a certain level of comfort in this terrain.

EQUIPMENT

We recommend you take particular care over you choice of equipment, as it plays a large role in the success of your trip.
